“ Dear Claudia, Robin, Alison and all Grace's family,

I join you in sadness at the passing of my "Cuz," as I flippantly referred to Grace to tease. It touches one deeply to lose someone you have known most of your life, with whom you have shared the good and the tough-going life has to offer.

Initially, I was just my brother Jerry's kid-sister, while Grace and Jerry enjoyed one another as teen-age peers. We were in touch as young adults, married and otherwise, but it was in the single, middle years we became boon companions. Our visits were a treat, tasty and otherwise. Grace liked to wheel around town, to show me the sights. (A favorite haunt was the Tarrytown Five and Ten!) We checked out restaurants, especially Chinese. We had many a discussion to solve the problems of the world, laughed at old movies, cried together, talked about family gone by and the matters of our lives.

As we grew older and were not able to get together, I missed Grace. We talked on the phone, until neither of us could hear. I appreciated hearing about Grace from her family. Thank you!

Now, I will remember good times shared, her kindness and generosity, her keen mind and wit and her courage in adversity..

*I am holding you all in my most caring thoughts. Love and peace,
Jackie*

“ I would like to extend my heartfelt condolences to the family on the loss of your loved one. May God almighty father of tender mercies and all comfort continue to strengthen you all (2 Corinthians 1: 3, 4). We all indeed look forward to the fulfillment of God's promise to completely remove death, tears, mourning, outcry and pain (Revelation 21:4). The Bible also provides assurance that in God's Kingdom, our dead loved ones will be brought back to life (John 5:25). May these promises from God bring you comfort.
