“ I met Nick in 1975 when he hired me as Assistant Director of the Co Op City schools. Later, he appointed me as an administrator of another school in District 11 and ultimately to the Principalship of another school, PS 78.

For the 13 years I worked for him, I found him to be both boss and mentor and a key to whatever success I had during the time.

I was fortunate to live down the block from him in the winters when Margaret and he resided in Florida which provided many pleasure-filled get togethers

Years later we enjoyed a little golf and lunches and breakfasts with the "guys" in Westchester.

I will never forget his generosity and professionalism, together with his affable nature and love for Margaret. He will be missed by many others as well, but his life and career are true treasures for so many.

“ Uncle Nick was a true Renaissance person, a Columbia man through and through. He was highly intelligent and well read. He had a keen intellect which cut through the chatter and fads to articulate the heart of the matter — whether it be culture, art, politics, or people. He loved a good meal, and savored each mouthful. He delighted in the mimicry of children. He had impeccable taste. He was the model of a life well lived.

Uncle Nick inspired us from early childhood with his sense of humor , good cheer and ready jokes. He shared his love of travel, cultures and adventure were passed along to us through many gifts of books and National Geographic Magazine , of which he had a vast collection. His creativity and sense of art is easily discernible in his paintings. We always looked forward to his Friday evening visits to Grandma Cicchetti's ; when he would entertain us with tales of the week as he enjoyed a delicious light dinner prepared by Grandma ; finished off with Medaglia d'oro espresso with a nip of anisette. God Bless uncle nick and aunt margaret; love richard, marina, claudia, kristina.

“ *Dear Stephen and Laraine,
I am so sorry to hear about your dad.
He was a person of wit, humor and brilliance combined with being a terrific reader and lover of nature.
Christmas times were the best when we were all together, taking, eating, listening to music, opening gifts, singing and playing “21”.
I miss him already, and find it hard to envision a life without him. I know I will often still think of something funny and continue to want to tell him as I often did .
To my mom, I also send my love and sympathy. You and Uncle Nick were a great duo and loved each other very much.
Love,
Jane, Tom and family*
