“ I'm Ricky and I grew up together, and some of my earliest memories of friendship include him. During our childhood and teenage years we shared a lot of time, laughter, and experiences that in many ways helped shape who we both became.

After high school our lives naturally went in different directions, as often happens, but we always stayed in touch over the years. That connection meant a lot to me. No matter how much time passed between conversations, the history we shared was always there.

Ricky will always remain a meaningful part of my early life and memories. I'm grateful for the years we knew each other and for the friendship we had when we were young.

Rest peacefully my friend

“ Knowing Ricky my entire life means there isn't a version of me that doesn't include him. He was the kind of person who could turn an ordinary day into a grand adventure. Although life took us down different paths after high school, the bond we built as kids remains a part of my foundation to this day. Saying goodbye to him feels like losing a part of my own history, but I'll carry our shared memories wherever I go. Your earthly journey is over Ricky. May you rest in peace, my friend.
